Retirement Announcement

PHD Manufacturing, Inc. wishes to inform everyone of the recent retirement of Joe Corvino.

Joe dedicated 50 years of his life to a career at PHD, while navigating a variety of the growing pains that many companies are challenged with in their infancy. He has a knowledge of this company that one can only have by truly living through it. Not many can say that they honestly know what every job within an organization takes but its special to know that he can. He had a career that has not only been beneficial to all within our organization but the variety of relationships he had the pleasure of working with outside of our organization.

Quite simply put, PHD is the company that it is today because of his dedication to all, as well as a vision of what he knew this company could become. He is responsible for the strong fundamentals that reverberate through the company today and the foundation that we continue to build on.

We wish him all the best and are happy to know that he will now enjoy the next chapter in his life that he worked so diligently for and more importantly deserves. Please join us in congratulating Joe Corvino in his retirement.

Sincerely,

PHD Manufacturing, Inc. Team
